

The El Paso County Water Master Plan (“Plan”) will look at current conditions, water supply projections and how to better craft the County’s policies and regulations to protect this critical resource and our quality of life. By 2050, El Paso County is projected to have a water shortage of 35,000 Acre-feet, or enough water to serve approximately 88,000 homes.

This Plan will look at current practices and how land-use impacts water demand to determine tools to reduce demand and protect this vital resource.
